Exciting Rumor in Diplomatic Circles

LONDON Sept 18—The ... says Lord Lyons conducts negotiations between Jules Favre and Bismarck. It is said a brief armistice is already arranged

There is great excitement in diplomatic circles to night over a report that an alliance between Austria, Italy and Russia had been completed the object of which is to be a division of the Turkish Em... the annexation of ... Poland by Russia annexation of Prussian Silesia by Austria and the surrender of Italian Tyrol to Italy It is believed Europe is on the eve of complications more formidable and extensive than were dreamed of a few weeks ago

Fighting Around Paris

Yesterday morning a column of three regiments advanced from Melun upon Corbeil four teen miles from Paris with the object of destroying flour mills and seizing granaries at that point and to throw a force forward to the city to cut the direct line of the Orleans railroad two miles further north at Juvisey The second object was attained but the Prussians having pushed on three miles further to Ablon were attacked by a superior force and after a severe conflict were routed and compelled to retreat upon the entrenchments on the hill at Juvisey commanding the passage of the Orge the bridge over which river has been blown up by the French At the same time the Prussians at Corbeil who had established themselves in the hamlet of Ris were attacked by a French force advancing from Longjumeau They succeeded in maintaining their position

A detachment of cavalry attacked the station at Longjumeau three miles from A... capturing the train from Brussels and burning the buildings

Canrobert's Forces

We have a rumor from Mons via Ostend that a force under Canrobert on Wednesday attacked and defeated the Prussians near St Quentin and that the action was going on Thursday near Lanchy. It is believed that Canrobert has formed a junction with troops from Lille Valenciennes and Arras and that he is threatening the right wing of the Prussians before Paris at Compiegne The Prussians have appeared on the heights of Villeneuve and Brunoy Cannonading is now heard towards Bicetre

Prospects for Peace

LONDON Sept 18—Prospects for peace look more favorable to day The statement that Bismarck had consented to receive Favre informally is regarded here as an indication

Republican Demonstrations in Germany

LONDON Sept 17—It is announced from Brussels that an international society has begun to disseminate throughout southern Germany a document calling upon the people to make cause with the people of France and to demand the abolition of a nobility and monarchy It is certain that the Bavarian Government has been forced to declare that it in no way adheres to the project of consolidation with the North German Confederation

A formidable popular demonstration was made in Vienna yesterday before the Hall of the Imperial Parliament The German banner of 1848 was carried in the procession A few arrests were made but no lives were lost

The excitement among the people in Prague and other cities of Europe is on the increase

Skirmishing about Paris

LONDON Sept 18—On Saturday Gen Vinoy made a reconnoissance from Paris and discovered a force of 40 000 Prussians posted at Creteil A skirmish took place in which the French lost 15 killed 30 wounded A cannonade followed lasting two hours Cannonading has been heard in the direction of Fort Ivery

Speculations from Berlin

BERLIN Sept 18—A Times correspondent writing on the 15th said the plan of operations at the siege of Paris is that the French being unable to oppose the Prussians with any considerable army in the field the Seine will be crossed by successive divisions to attack the weakest point of fortifications—those of the south front Elevations exist on that side from which an effective fire can be opened on the French forts During the first few days after arrival the Germans will be occupied in preparing cantonments and reconnoitering The investment so far as practicable will follow soon after Communications on the north are already cut off Those on all other sides will soon be and there will be no delay down to the moment when peace or an armistice is actually signed, which is not anticipated before the city falls

General Details

PARIS Sept 17—Strasbourg is nearly untenable and the inhabitants are leaving

The Prussians crossed the Seine last evening near Athis but were driven back

LONDON Sept 18—The Prussian cavalry were defeated Thursday afternoon near the gues and driven back on Melun, which town was occupied in force

The extensive mills and quarries at Essonne were destroyed by fire with all their contents

The city of Callais was this morning declared in a state of siege and put under martial law

Victor Hugo's address to France to day is exciting all classes against the return of Napoleon

A balloon has arrived from Metz with letters

WAR MISCELLANY

The Turkish Government has ordered 200 mitrailleurs on the Gatling American principle to be be made and delivered with the utmost speed

The Figaro says at Reichshoffen the body of Colonel Lacarre of the Third Cuirassiers was borne along in the charge upright but without the head which had been swept off by a cannon ball The same ball had cut the trumpeter in two and cut off the hand of a captain who was by his side

A Berlin letter says the liberal party in both Prussia and France are very hopeful that in spite of both authorities that are waging the war there will be such results as will undermine their throne and they are looking for the triumph of modern ideas with more interest perhaps than to the victory of either Prussia or France

Major Gen William B Hazen of the regular army, the hero of Fort McAllister and a gallant soldier throughout the war has asked under leave of the President for Europe hoping to be in time to witness the ... operations ... the great Franco Prussian campaign The General's absence from his command is likely to be prolonged until about the 1st of January next

Another letter on the war from Victor Hugo appears in Les ... He says This war is two edged if it overturns Prussia it delivers us to Bonaparte if France, it delivers us to Bismarck In the latter case the true result will not remain in expectancy The Revolution will rise above the fallen empire, and the Revolution will become next day the United States of Europe Let us rouse our selves against kings and trust in the people

Further from Italy

FLORENCE Sept 15—Baron Arnim, North German Minister at Rome, has tendered his good offices for the settlement of the present troubles Gen Cardano has granted twenty four hours to make a fresh representation to the Pope after which immediate steps to enter Rome will be taken Meanwhile the troops continue their movements to surround the city

The French Colonies

[From the New York Times]

There are other ways in which France may be annoyed by way of penalty for beginning and losing the present tremendous conflict besides depriving her of Alsace or Lorraine or otherwise curtailing her home territory She possesses colonies inconsiderable truly both in area and population when compared with those of England, but which might prove of great value to a nation like Prussia, having so limited a seaboard and ambitions of adding naval power to her magnificent military resources In Asia Africa America and Oceanica France governs dependencies which considering her own navy it might be difficult to win from her by the sword but which might be readily acquired by her successful enemy as conditions of a Treaty of Paris Should Prussia be as ... lutely triumphant in the pending war as now seems probable it may be presumed that the importance of acquiring facilities for maritime development will not be lost sight of, It is undeniable as the World has pointed out, that the blockade of the Baltic and the North Sea by the French fleet chokes the trade of a dozen great German cities and stints the supplies of their vast subsidiary populations, thus inflicting great if temporary injury To guard against such an evil in the future or even partially to cope with it, Germany needs outlying colonies where her ships can gather in safety, can coal refit and victual and sally forth as occasion serves to meet the enemy on the high seas and to break or run the blockade of her home ports

In ... America France possesses Martinique Guadaloupe and Guiana besides the little Islands of St Pierre and Miquelon the colonies having an aggregate population of about 350 000 souls In Asia the French possessions include besides the province of Cochin China, with a population of ... million the valuable points of Pondicherry Chandernagor Karikal Mahe and Yanaon In Africa France holds in Senegambia Gaboon the Gold Coast and the Islands of Reunion St Marie Mayott and Mossi B... with people exceeding ... In Oceanica New Caledonia and the Marquesas and Loyalty Islands Added to these actual sovereignties France wields a protectorate over the kingdom of Cambodia Porto Novo in Africa Tahiti Gambier and other islands of the Polynesian groups that ... her influence and her ... not ... strength ... to be ... like the ... of old England ... immense markets for home manufactures, but as ... depots ... of serious ... Germany they ... Such a procedure ... likely to form ... any treaty of peace ... follows the close of the existing war ... has often been ... the ... an unsuccessful contest and the plan may once more be tried with success

PACIFIC COAST DISPATCHES.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

CALIFORNIA

French Demonstration in San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO Sept 19—The French held an enthusiastic meeting last night Republicans and late Imperialists uniting and resolved to send the following dispatch by telegraph to the Provisional Government at Paris

The French of California admire you They have faith in your patriotism Save the Republic

A committee was appointed to draft an address to be forwarded by mail as follows At the moment that the foreigner is trampling the soil of our country France has thrown aside with indignation the Imperial crown to announce the Republic It matters little to day how numerous the enemy is The country is saved Courageous men who hold in your hands the destinies of France receive the most complete adhesion of the French population of California to drive away the foreigner from the soil of our country to give back to France the prestige of her best days to establish forever a grand firm and just Republic Such is the task which is incumbent upon you You will succeed for the whole nation is with you and our cause is that of humanity

While the committee was preparing the address an impromptu collection was taken up in aid of the Sanitary Fund which amounted to four hundred and fifty dollars

M Joseph Emerie made a very touching address He said he was but yesterday an Imperialist to day he is a Republican The question was not Imperialism or Republicanism but to save the country When a man walks over forty thousand dead bodies to surrender his sword without first breaking it he deserves to be hung France can do without such a man We want no peace but war to the bitter end until not one of the invaders rests foot on the soil of France Let Napoleon perish Let him sink into that oblivion he deserves Let his name be recorded with contempt But France must live

A large number of gifts for the French Sanitary Fair has been already received

Gen Gordon a veteran of the Mexican war died here yesterday

Railroad agents and excursion party arrived last evening at half past nine o'clock and will hold daily meetings for consultation at the Mercantile Library during the week

BY STATE TELEGRAPH

Dispatch from Salem

SALEM Sept 19—The Senate transacted no business of importance. The time of the House was occupied in considering the majority and minority reports on the contested cases from Benton county The contest is of great interest, because if the two Republican members are ousted and the Democratic contestants get seats, it will add to the strength of Kelly and show that the majority are in favor of him for Senator The test motions on the case were unfavorable to a speedy decision and so unfavorable to Kelly The House adjourned after a very interesting and exciting session without any definite action The matter is still in hand

The German Democrats and the War

The Anzeiger des Westens of St Louis, one of the few influential German papers in the Western States which have remained faithful to the Democratic party, has the following significant article

With the exception of the Missouri Republican and a few other rather insignificant papers the entire Democratic press in America has taken side in the present war for France This is a fact which cannot be denied, and which should not be concealed from the German Americans In vain one seeks for reasons to explain this sympathy of the American Democracy with Bonapartism and its victim the misguided French people As the traditional predilection for France on account of the support it gave to the United States in the war of independence, as nativistic dislike for the unloved German element in America as finally, ignorance and prejudices with regard to European relations are within the Republican party at least as strong as in the Democratic party one might assume that the sympathy for Germany or France in both parties must be about equally divided. But this is not so The overwhelming majority of Republican papers recognizes the justice of the cause of Germany and brings articles on the war and state of affairs in Germany and France which betoken a thorough knowledge of the subject and independent judgment, while a majority just as overwhelming of the Democratic papers of the English language, not only sympathize with France but is filled with the most venomous lies and the greatest abuse with regard to Germany

If ignorant American scribblers still indulge the hallucination that the French people of which 40 per cent cannot read and write are marching at the head of civilization one might attribute this to their ignorance of truth But it is spite, if we must read in American papers that Bonapartistic France enjoys more freedom than Germany, while every reader of newspapers ought to know that the contrary is the case—that for many years the press in Germany has been more free than in France that the departments of administration and justice are more honest and better and that Germany has a more efficient representation of the people than France That Germany during the last decennial has advanced with gigantic steps in its scientific as well as its political life that in no country of the world popular education stands higher and family life is purer and better—all this seems to be entirely unknown to our American Democrats. It is equally unknown to them that under the rule of the Bonaparte the demoralization of France in political as well as in family life has made gigantic progress and that the iron pressure of Cæsarism has paralyzed all minds, even in the provinces of literature

Yet why discuss a subject which in fact has only one side and with regard to which all unprejudiced educated men among them even a large number of Frenchmen have only one opinion We have attentively read the Democratic papers of the English tongue which day after day have given expression to their English sympathies but found in them little deserving a refutation But we also find daily in the Democratic English press articles which fill us with astonishment and, to be frank with indignation and shame What for instance can we say of articles like the one in The New York World under the title "School Girls" in which the most disgraceful insinuations are made against Prussia

The insults which Democratic papers now heap upon the German people go deep and will not soon be forgotten And it should not be forgotten for it shows clearly the spirit which animates the English Democratic papers and what we may expect from them.

The Journal of New York ... of the daily Democratic papers ... and fully approves the above article

TUESDAY MORNING SEPT [illegible] 1870

Mr Mosher's Sham Contest

If Senator Herman of Douglas county who was lately ousted from his seat in favor of Mr Mosher, Democrat, came to the Capital and applied for the situation, was not legally entitled to it, then that he is then the seat belonged to Mr Barker and not to Mr Mosher. Mr Barker was Mr Herman's opponent in the election two years ago. Mr Herman at that time was collector of internal revenue. If he is now ineligible he was ineligible then. Hence on the theory that his acting as agent for the Collector of internal revenue disqualified him for a seat in the Legislature, Mr Barker was lawfully elected to the Senate and should now have the seat. Mr Mosher is simply an interloper sitting there and participating in the deliberations without a shadow of right. Inasmuch as the Democratic majority took it upon themselves to dispossess Mr Herman of the seat, a decent regard for their own consistency in the proceeding would have required them to give the seat to Mr Barker, the only man who, on their own theory could be entitled to it. But they stultified their own action when they turned Mr Herman out, by putting Mr Mosher in.

The Senate has elected Mr Mosher to a position to which the people of his county never would have elected him. The county Democratic Convention refused to put any person in nomination for the place, holding either that there was no vacancy or that if the seat did not belong to Mr Herman it did belong to Mr Barker. But Mr Mosher had his own name printed on some tickets, and in a few precincts in Douglas county some votes were thrown for him. In the other counties of the district, Coos and Curry no notice was taken of this "election," and no votes were thrown for Senator. In Oakland precinct, Douglas county the Democrats held a meeting and denounced the impudence of Mr Mosher in nominating himself and refused generally to vote for him.

The act of the Senate in ousting Mr Herman is deprived of every color of excuse by the act of admitting Mr Mosher. The only possible plea in justification of the ejectment of Mr. Herman would be that he was occupying a seat to which Mr Barker was entitled. Mr Mosher, we must acknowledge was wise in choosing his time to be a candidate. Had there been any competitor against him he would have been permitted to stay at home.

The Senator

To-day at twelve o clock the two Houses of the Legislature will, in conformity with law, proceed to ballot for United States Senator. Col Kelly, without question is stronger than any other candidate, and though there has been considerable opposition to him in his party, we think it more than probable that he will be elected. It makes very little difference to us, as Republicans, who the choice falls upon. The State need not expect anything from the Senator now to be chosen, for he will certainly be powerless for good, and probably, for harm. Col Kelly although he is quite favorably known as a gentleman would be in reality as poor a stick as it would be possible to send to the Senate, as he is wanting both in tact and ability for public business. While he could do the State little or no service, he would be equally of no service to his party. For this last reason most Republicans would be as well content to see him elected as any other man. Since the June election this has not been our fight, and we, in common with most Republicans await the result with comparative indifference.

LATEST.—Intelligence received last night from Salem at eleven o'clock is to the effect that in the Democratic caucus Kelly was nominated. He received forty two votes, the entire strength of the party—it being understood that he was required to give pledges in writing to support the interests of Southern Oregon in railroad matters. Thus it appears at last that a Democrat could be elected Senator only on condition that he would support the measure introduced by Williams, which the Democratic party fought so bitterly in the June election.

Remarkably Gracious.

In some of the States, particularly the Southern ones where colored men throw a large vote, this class of citizens is growing in favor with the "white man's party." In fact the Democracy have fallen politically in love with them. In Louisiana that party recently held a State Convention. A colored citizen—in Democratic parlance two years ago, a "nigger,"—wrote to the Chairman of the Committee to know whether colored delegates would be admitted. The answer was in terms very closely resembling the following:

> My Very Dear Friend. Not admit colored persons to our Convention! Bless my soul! What can you be thinking of! Why, they are the very delegates we want. We expect you, we shall be dreadfully disappointed if you do not come, you are to come as a matter of course, and take a front seat. We shall heartily welcome you. Come!—just as many of you as can make it convenient, and see how well you will be treated. Your friend and fellow citizen,

The above was not the exact language of the reply but it was very near it. "The ballot," says the New York Tribune, "has done wonders, but this is about the best proof which we have yet seen that has entirely removed the curse so long resting upon Canaan."

In the days of General Jackson the following was considered good Democratic doctrine but the whole party now repudiates it: "To plant the manufacturer by the side of the farmer is the true and sure way to increase the recompense of the husbandman's toil, even though his metals, his implements his wares and his fabrics should cost him more money under a protective policy than under free trade he would nevertheless pay for them with less of produce or labor and in the p[illegible]eration gain the large benefit of greater diversity of interests in the community." The Herald no doubt would denounce this as one of the sophistical arguments of the monopolists. Let it know however that the language is that of General Jackson himself.

For years the Democracy of Oregon have had much to say about the taxation of United States bonds. Their orators and journals have attempted to make this one of the chief issues in elections. Now as they have both branches of the Legislature and the Governor besides, let us see them tax United States bonds. Come gentlemen, [illegible] up to your theory and your promises. Let us see you tax the bonds!

The Democratic party of Oregon is fully in power for the first time since Col Kelly split it wide open in 1858 and thus prepared the way for the defeats it has suffered during a dozen years. And Col Kelly asks a Democratic Legislature to elect him Senator to-day, and claims it on the ground of his services to the party.

The Senate refused to concur in the House amendment.

Dr Watts said there was a mistake; the lecture will be at the Christian Church.

The President. The Senator from Union will take notice.

Afternoon Session.

The Senate was called to order at 2 P. M. by President Fay.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON BILLS

Mr Baldwin from the Committee on Enrolling reported S. J. R. No 6 correctly enrolled.

Mr Baldwin in the Chair—President Fay introduced a bill to tax unnaturalized foreigners emigrating to Oregon.

Mr Fay moved to suspend the rules and to read the bill by title.

Mr Cochran thought it wrong to have standing rules and pay no attention to them. Although he did not know of any objection to the bill he thought it best to abide by the rules.

Mr Fay—In order to save time I withdraw the motion to suspend the rules. The bill was read and passed to a second reading.

Mr Thompson introduced S B No 8 amending chapter [illegible] concerning fees of officers—relating to fees of Sheriff and Clerk.

Mr Cochran moved that S B No 4 providing for a Board of Equalization for the respective counties in this State be engrossed and read the third time to-morrow.

Mr Stout suggested that a bill would be introduced providing for a State Board of Equalization and if the present bill was referred it might be embodied in or joined to the proposed bill.

Mr Cochran—I moved to engross, because the bill had arrived at that stage, and will, at the request of the Senator, withdraw the motion.

Mr Stout moved to refer to the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr Cochran stated that a similar case was last year referred to the Committee on Ways and Means and they were unable to do anything with it. I hope the Senator will withdraw his motion.

Mr Stout withdrew the motion and on motion of Mr Trevitt the bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

MONTANA COMMUNICATION

The President announced that there was a communication from the Legislature of Montana Territory. The communication is a response to the Senate joint resolution of last session protesting against taxing provisions and goods in transit through Montana for Oregon. The concurrent resolution received from Montana is as follows:

Your Committee on Federal Relations to whom was referred Senate joint resolution No 11 from the State of Oregon beg leave to report that we have carefully examined and considered the same and find that whilst the grievances complained of therein may be correct as to Idaho Territory we can as to ourselves disclaim any cause for complaint to our Oregon neighbors. First, claiming to be as we rightly are, legal citizens obeying the behests and laws of our national Government we should deplore to find that we have for the short period of our political existence, been guilty of having enacted laws that are contrary to the laws of the United States in abridging the just rights of our fellow citizens from any portion of our national domain but more especially of citizens from Oregon, for whom it has ever been our pleasure to entertain the best wishes. Second your committee respectfully represent that after a careful examination of our laws, we find on page 237 sec. 10, of an act concerning license that the heavy tax complained of is only confined to the sum of fifty cents on every loaded pack animal coming into the Territory, which barely pays for the benefit afforded in passing over our roads and bridges built by the Territory or counties at heavy expense, which are free from toll. We commend the spirit your Oregon law makes in advocating that self preservation is the first duty of nature, yet your committee is of the opinion that the same principle should be permitted to be practiced in our own Territory, so young and in need of revenue. Our merchants and dealers are all compelled to pay an ad valorem and license tax, whereas the frontier citizens of Oregon find a ready and profitable market in our Territory for all they bring at the nominal taxation of only fifty cents for each loaded pack animal, which in the opinion of your committee is not so enormous a tax as to warrant so grave a protest. As to the allegation that they are compelled to pay a tax on property in transit, that is entirely a mistake and has undoubtedly been exaggerated to the Oregon Legislature. In view of these reasons thus assigned, your committee is of the opinion that Oregon will acknowledge our liberality, graciously acquiesce and concede the justice of our position. Claiming that our law regarding the taxation to be just and legal and mindful of our duty we cannot with any degree of consistency recommend the repeal of the same.

(Signed) A E MAYHEW

Speaker of the House of Representatives

D RUSSELL

President of the Council

Mr Stout—In view of the character of the communication, and the many compliments paid to the Legislature of Oregon I move that the communication be received and placed on file.

The President stated that if there were no objection the communication would be placed on file and it was so ordered.

President Fay gave notice of a bill to provide for a uniform system of education.

On motion adjourned until 10 A. M. to-morrow.

HOUSE—Morning Session.

SALEM, Monday, Sept. 19, 1870

The House was called to order at 10 o'clock A. M. by Speaker Hayden all the members being present except Mr. Olney.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Waller.

The Journal of Saturday was read and approved.

FEES OF OFFICERS

Mr DeShiel presented a petition signed by 250 citizens of Umatilla county asking the repeal of Sec. 31 of Chap. 18 of the General Laws relative to the fee of officers so far as it applies to Umatilla county.

Mr Whiteaker moved to refer the petition to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr Hare suggested that it be referred to special committee. He regarded the fees of the county officers at least 25 per cent too high. He did not wish to serve on the special committee but desired to see such committee created to consider all such petitions that may be presented.

Mr. Fulton believed it was the desire of every man woman and child east of the Cascade Mountains that the fees should be reduced. They are now certainly double the rate they ought to be. The clause in the General Laws making the fees county officers in eastern Oregon 33 per cent higher than in the Willamette, ought to be repealed. The petition was read and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

THE BENTON CONTESTED ELECTION

Mr Helm—As Chairman of the Select Committee to whom was referred the Benton county contested election case, I beg leave to submit the following majority report in that case.

The report states that the parties appeared personally and by attorney before the committee [illegible] certificate of the County Clerk it appears that Mr Kelly received [illegible] votes Mr Dunn 573 Mr Calloway 561 and Mr Carlyle 5[illegible] [illegible] Kelly and Dunn were illegal [illegible] Carlyle and Call [illegible] were illegally rejected by the judges of election [illegible] Calloway [illegible] The majority submit a resolution declaring Messrs Carlyle and Calloway entitled to the seats occupied by Messrs Dunn and Kelly.

Mr Hare submitted a minority report from the same committee. It concedes that there were [illegible] cast for the sitting members, and claims that there were no illegal imported votes cast for the contestants. It recommends the adoption of a resolution declaring the sitting members entitled to their seats.

Mr Lockhart—I move that these reports be referred back to the committee and that they be instructed to report to the House all the papers and documents referred to them pertaining to this case.

Mr Dorris moved a call of the House, which was ordered and all the members were found present except Mr Ostrander.

After some delay the Speaker announced that the Sergeant at Arms could not find Mr Ostrander and Mr Lockhart moved that the further call of the House be dispensed with. The motion prevailed by 24 ayes to 2 noes.

Mr Helm raised the point of order that Messrs Dunn and Kelly being directly interested could not vote.

The Speaker ruled the point not well taken.

Mr Whiteaker moved to lay Mr Lockhart's motion on the table.

Messrs. Whalley and Hare demanded the ayes and noes which were as follows:

Ayes—Messrs Alexander Amis Clarke Comegys Drain, Dorris DeShiel Elkins Fulton Grant Hutchin[illegible] Hunter McLean Munkers [illegible] Savage [illegible] Whiteaker Waldo [illegible] Mr Speaker—24.

Noes—Messrs Applegate [illegible] Bellinger [illegible] Earhart Hare Helm [illegible] Olney [illegible] Starkweather Whalley and Wheeler—[illegible]

The Speaker—The question now recurs upon the [illegible]

Mr Lockhart [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr Grant—I do not understand that we are a judicial body, at least I have never taken the oath of a Judge, nor do I know that we are to decide matters according to law more than justice. (Laughter.) I don't understand that when I took an oath a week ago to-day I took an oath to act as a Judge but to discharge the duties of my office. I came here to do the duties of a Representative faithfully, and when the gentleman moves to refer these here reports back to that committee sir, in order to get in evidence, I know that one man sir in that report voted in Polk county, sir and then right over in Benton county and he is now reported as a voter in that county. I say I know that that is an honest man, and not only that, but there are other things sir that I can say that—

Mr O Regan—I arise to a point of order.

The Speaker—The gentleman from Polk will confine himself to the question.

Mr O Regan—The evidence is not before the House.

The Speaker—The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr Grant—Well sir, all I have to say is that I shall oppose the motion to refer it back.

Mr Hare favored the reference, deeming it essential to an impartial decision of the question. He believed his own report as the minority of the committee correct and supposed the majority of the committee also believed their report to be correct. The only way to decide this question would be to give them the evidence upon which to judge. He considered the real question at issue to be whether the Legislature would undertake to oust members from Benton county without seeing the evidence. He knew that men were apt to be prejudiced in such matters but he believed that as a member of the House acting under oath and in the fear of God, the evidence would show his report to be correct.

Mr Hare remarked that the action of the House in referring this case to the special committee was in order to relieve the House of the onerous task of considering so voluminous an amount of testimony. Mr Hare had met with the committee and joined in the work which was earnestly prosecuted by the committee under the impression that its action was to be taken as the basis for the action of the House. He himself, Mr Helm had never performed harder labor [illegible] to the examination of the committee. He believed that the motion had been made for no other purpose than delay, and he hoped it would not pass.

Mr Starkweather argued that as committees are required to report their action to the House it is an evidence that the House has control over them and their reports and can adopt or reject them at will without being bound to follow the recommendation of the committee. The majority and minority reports in the case under consideration were widely different, and it was necessary that the House should be in possession of the evidence in order to decide as to which is right. He had taken an oath as a member of the Legislature he would not dare to violate or to infringe upon the law of the land in any respect. Something had been said about the members of the House not being bound by their oaths but [illegible] hoped that the remark was not meant as an intimation that members can disregard the law.

Mr Lockhart replied to Mr Dorris' remark that the evidence had gone out of the hands of the committee into the possession of the Senate. That committee had no right to dispose of the evidence in such a way. He regarded it as a very flimsy excuse. He reminded Mr Helm who on a former occasion, had referred to the Grant county contested case that the only difference in the manner of treating that case and this was that the former had been referred to the regular Committee on Elections while the latter was referred to a special committee. On the former occasion when the committee reported upon the case, he stood side by side with Mr Helm and demanded that the evidence should be introduced before the House voted upon the question. Why then did the gentleman now oppose the production of the evidence?

Mr Davenport—I wish to say a word on this matter. If I should vote for either of these reports at present I would have to do so blindly for I am in utter ignorance as to what the reports are founded upon. I understand that in such a case the work of a committee is simply preliminary in its nature, being designed to classify and bring the voluminous documentary evidence into some shape. The committee have now performed that work and it will take but a few hours to [illegible] the evidence before the House. So far as the delay is concerned, I think it will cause some delay. Any delay in an impartial trial of the case must be desirable to any delay. But there ought to be no reason why we should not proceed practically, without regard to justice. I am informed that a similar case before the Senate has been referred to the Committee of the whole just as we will [illegible] this.

Mr Olney—I cannot quite acquiesce in the adoption of any of the conclusions of the committee without the evidence from which these conclusions are drawn. This contest was sent to the committee to be investigated and to be reported upon. It was the duty of that committee to report the testimony which should be referred to it and report that testimony to the House together with their conclusions. If the House should be satisfied if there should be a unanimity in the committee then their conclusions might be adopted without examining the voluminous testimony, but the House should have the same means of reaching its decision as the committee. The committee are merely to prepare the work for the House. How can I, as a member of this House, vote upon this question after a divided report from the committee which has examined the case unless I have the evidence before me. I am entitled to agree with neither the other without any light upon the subject. I have no means of judging except my [illegible] [illegible] presenting these reports. That is not a proper basis for a decision. If I am not enlightened in regard to their rights, if it is not known to me that the one is right and the other wrong how am I to decide impartially. If I should be compelled to vote now upon the one proposition or the other without light, without having been shown the light from which other men have drawn their conclusions, if I am forced to do it [illegible] these gentlemen who now hold the seats [illegible] [illegible] until it be shown [illegible] have a better right [illegible] [illegible] The committee has had the evidence before it. They have [illegible] what conclusion they [illegible] reached from the evidence and they now ask the House to accept it [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr Bellinger [illegible] the testimony [illegible] the committee had examined the witnesses but had [illegible] the written evidence submitted by the parties in the case.

Mr Olney replied that it was the House [illegible] what they [illegible] reports [illegible] presented.

Mr [illegible] asked [illegible] call some witnesses [illegible]

Mr Helm [illegible]

[illegible]

Mr Helm [illegible] the statement [illegible] [illegible] and urged that they should have all the evidence before it.

Mr Hare stated that the sitting members had their counsel, Judge Chenoweth, had [illegible] the witnesses who were in Salem, but the majority refused to call them, as he thought erroneously.

Mr Dorris replied that the sitting members had not made it appear that the testimony was material.

At 12:30 P. M. the House adjourned.

Afternoon Session.

The House met at 2 o'clock P. M., the Speaker in the Chair.

THE CONTESTED ELECTION AGAIN

The Speaker stated the question to be [illegible]

Noes—Messrs Alexander Amis Comegys Drain Dorris DeShiel Elkins Fulton Grant [illegible] Hunter McLean Munkers [illegible] Savage [illegible] Whiteaker [illegible]

On motion of Mr Hare the report of the committee with accompanying documents were ordered printed.

[illegible]

Mr Helm [illegible] the Secretary of State [illegible] The resolution was adopted.

Mr Hare gave notice of a bill to establish a [illegible] [illegible] relating to sanitary matters in Oregon.

Also a bill relating to roads and highways.

Also a bill relating to [illegible] tax.

Also a bill relating to the sale of school lands.

Mr Dorris gave notice of a bill to amend [illegible] division 4 of chapter [illegible] of the General Laws.

Mr Whiteaker gave notice of a bill to license Drummers engaged in selling goods in the State.

Mr Helm gave notice of a bill to regulate the fees of District Attorneys.

Mr Dorris introduced a bill to separate the office of Clerk of the County Court in [illegible] from the office of County Recorder which was read and ordered printed.

Mr Hutchinson introduced a bill to regulate the fees of witnesses summoned before the Grand Jury, [illegible] the same fees as to witnesses before the Circuit Court. It was read and ordered printed.

Mr Whiteaker offered the following:

Resolved, That the Committee on Military Affairs be instructed to inquire into the condition of the Adjutant General's office and the propriety of discontinuing the same if the public service will not suffer thereby. [illegible] The resolution was adopted. [illegible] offered a resolution to [illegible] the state of forwardness of the printing of the Biennial Reports of the Secretary of State and State Treasurer. The resolution was adopted.

Mr Starkweather moved to admit [illegible] the parties in the Benton county contested case. Adopted.

The Speaker announced a communication from the Secretary of State which was read, and transmitting a communication from the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States returning the Joint Resolution No [illegible] of the last session of the Oregon Legislature instructing Senators Williams and Corbett to resign and which on motion of Mr Washburne was returned as an insult upon the [illegible]

Mr Whalley—I move that the paper be referred to the committee on Federal Relations.

Mr [illegible]—I am opposed to that motion. (Laughter.) [illegible] I am Chairman of that committee on Federal Relations at least sir I believe I understand it in that way, that is my name appears first and sir I was here when that there resolution was adopted by this House and we sent that there resolution to George H. Williams. We laughed at it all respect and [illegible] sir with [illegible] that he was entitled to when he was [illegible] and I am for treating him with just as much [illegible] No gentleman, sir, that is no man that pretends to call himself a gentleman, representing such a State as Oregon with such intelligence and wisdom and [illegible] And I say sir that I treat him with just as much respect as he did me. [illegible] sir, in this House, in the House of 1868 which was composed of as [illegible] and intelligent men [illegible] that [illegible] resolution was adopted and it was sent to Washington asking them men who had [illegible] to resign so that we might get better men and now he sends it back this way. Why sir it just shows a few things and there was only one that he could have thought of either that this body was not a gentleman, or he knew he was not a gentleman and he knew that we were gentlemen and that is the reason he sent it back.

Mr Alexander—I move to amend the motion so as to direct the papers to be returned to the Secretary of State to be filed in the archives of the State. The amendment was adopted and the motion prevailed.

The Speaker. The ayes have it; they are sent back. (Laughter.)

At 3:30 P. M. the House adjourned.

CITY.

POLICE REGULATIONS.—We publish as follows the rules and regulations for the government of the police force of this city, which were recently posted in the Recorder's Court room yesterday:

Sec. 1. For the purpose of police duty the city of Portland is divided into three wards.

Sec. 2. First Ward—All of the city north of ... Second Ward—All ... Third Ward—All south of ... streets.

Sec. 3. The police force is divided into 1st ... Chief of Police, 2d—Lieutenant of Police ... regulars.

Sec. 4. The regulars shall be stationed two in each Ward to act in conjunction with the night watchmen, whose beats come within their several wards, respectively, each of the regulars to relieve each other once every eight hours, viz: 12 M ... and 4 A M.

Sec. 5. When a complaint has been made to an officer that a crime has been committed in his ward he shall immediately investigate the same, and if in another ward he shall notify the officer of such ward, or immediately attend to such duty himself.

Sec. 10. When any complaint is made to the Chief, he shall see that the proper officer is notified thereof, and that he does his duty.

Sec. 11. The headquarters of the police force shall be at the Recorder's office, and every officer not otherwise employed is expected to be present at that place.

Sec. 12. When an alarm of fire occurs in the night time the night watchmen should remain on their beats, and the regular city officers repair immediately to the fire, and then use their best skill and power under the direction of the Marshal or Chief Engineer, for the preservation of the public peace, the protection of property and the arrest of all suspected persons.

Sec. 13. Policemen, whether regular or special, are prohibited from arresting persons charged with being deserters from the U. S. Army or Navy without a warrant.

Sec. 15. Officers on street duty are required to patrol their beats constantly during their hours of duty, keeping a vigilant watch for fires and guard against persons and the public peace, and they shall not leave their beats unless in pursuit of official duty.

Sec. 16. Police officers are prohibited from leaving their beats for the purpose of attending balls or places of amusement, etc., without the permission of the Chief, and absence from the city without leave will not be tolerated.

Sec. 21. Punctual attendance shall be required of every officer connected with the department. In case of serious sickness and disability only shall be an excuse for absence from duty, and sleeping while on duty, either in the office or elsewhere, is strictly forbidden.

Sec. 22. Officers paid by the city, each in his proper ward, finding that street lamps in the night time, while they are on duty, are not lighted, shall make an entry thereof immediately on their return and notify the Street Commissioner the next day thereof, in writing, of the hours that said lamps were extinguished and the corners of the streets on which they are located.

Sec. 24. All officers of the department shall devote their whole time and attention to the business of the department, and not follow any other calling; and although certain hours are allotted to each man's duty, on ordinary occasions, yet all ... of the department must be prepared at a moment's notice whenever their services may be required.

Sec. 27. Officers cognizant of the commission of any crime shall immediately report the same to the Chief of Police with all the circumstances which may have come to their knowledge.

Sec. 28. Police officers shall take cognizance of all minors who roam about the streets at night, if they are found without parents or guardians, leading idle or dissolute lives they shall be brought before the Recorder for examination.

Sec. 29. Forbearance under provocation and a becoming though firm deportment will insure a proper support in the discharge of his duty, while violent or excited manner or indiscreet conduct will destroy his individual influence and bring down public odium on the whole force.

Sec. 30. Every officer must have his star prominently in view when on duty or on the street, except in the performance of detective duty.

Sec. 31. Attention to business, good conduct and ... is expected of every officer.

Sec. 32. It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police to see that all the officers strictly conform to the above rules and regulations.

GENERAL SHERMAN'S RECEPTION.—We are in receipt of the programme for the reception of General Sherman, which has been arranged. In case the steamer arrives here during the day time he will be formally received by Mayor Goldsmith, the City Common Council, and the speech of welcome will be made by Senator Williams. The United States Twenty-third Infantry Band and the Civic Brass Band will furnish music for the occasion, and the civil military companies of the city will participate in the reception march and escort, from the steamer to the St. Charles Hotel, at which suite of rooms have been engaged by the committee for General Sherman and General ... A cordial invitation has been extended to the two military companies of this city—the Emmett and Washington Guards—by Mayor Goldsmith and the Common Council to participate in the ceremonies.

CHINESE SUIT.—The Chinese are in great tribulation at present about Lo Yea Hrock Shing Sing Kong, who have broken over the regulations governing the establishment of wash houses in the city. The Recorder's Court room was densely packed yesterday with Celestials in attendance at a suit growing out of this condition of the regulations, but as it could not be shown that a crime had been committed the case was discharged. The Chinese, however, instead of dispensing an article which they ..., and the poor unfortunates may be waylaid by them in some dark alley. In such a case this is a serious matter yet. The affair seems to partake somewhat of the character of that at San Francisco which lately gave rise to the Chinese riots.

THE HOLY LAND.—The first lecture upon the subject of the Holy Land by Rabbi Sneershon will be delivered on Thursday evening at Synagogue Beth Israel, commencing at 8 o'clock ... St. We trust that a full attendance will greet the lecturer. His visit to this country is to interest the Christian world in the welfare of the Jews, especially those in Jerusalem. We have no doubt that he will accomplish much in his mission. Nobody can fail to be interested in him and his impressive discourse. He is a man of learning, understands the condition of his people, and comprehends the true modes by which their conditions are to be alleviated.

TO BE REPEATED.—The performance at Oro Fino Theatre last evening will be again repeated to-night. "Frou Frou," a sensational comedy from the pen of Augustin Daly. The company all acquitted themselves individually and collectively in a manner highly satisfactory. ... fairly outdid himself; Vinson could not have done better than he was, and the ladies, Mrs. Tinkley, Misses Pixley and Miss Ingles, were particularly deserving of applause.

HERMAN.—Senator Herman was in the city yesterday. The act of Mr Herman's in the Oregon Senate—by which a man was permitted to ... a seat who had never been voted for by the people, will cause the Webfoot Senate to become the laughing stock for tenants and jeer the world over. He ... overshadows everything else just now. Honor, Morality, religion, common sense, and all, are cast aside by the Solons who ... their Democracy.

REAL ESTATE.—But two transfers of real estate were filed at the County Clerk's office yesterday, as given below, in consequence of the extreme length of the first deed:

Wm Ryan as administrator to Samuel Nelson, lots 3 and 4 in block 145 in East Portland; consideration $1 ...

Jacob Theiler and wife to George W. Weidler, ... of land, consideration $1 00.

"A Mis Cue."—A joker yesterday referring to a bill introduced in the Legislature by Ames to ... (the Chinaman's cue), caste remarked that if Gov. Grover should veto the bill it would be a Mis-cue. The man still lives. But it is pretty certain that Grover would sanction the bill, as it accords with his statesmanship, in which will become "the end of a thing" called Democracy, in Oregon.

TRIED AND CONVICTED.—Wm. Ryan, accused of ... and petit larceny, was convicted on both charges yesterday before Justice Anderson. He was held to answer on the first charge, and was sentenced to thirty days imprisonment in the County jail on the second charge. While he is ... to answer we presume he can serve ...

RUSSIAN DOGS.—At the store of Mr ... Odd Fellows Temple yesterday we saw a pair of young Russian ... dogs. They came here by the ship ... from San Francisco, and are to remain here at present ... They are a finer specimen of the canine than appeared about here.

ARRESTED BY MISTAKE.—On Sunday evening two young men were arrested on complaint of a man who charged them with having stolen ... which Yesterday morning it turned out that the complaining witness was mistaken, and ... were made ... the ... were set free.

A RELEASE.—... Judge Anderson's Court ... being discharged yesterday morning. It is earnestly hoped that he will speed, and not only make his ... time, but ... will make good ... regenerate.

THE SENATE.—To-day ... the senator ... will be fired, which will ... give ... several ... participate in the ... extended to Gen. Sherman and ... military companies will thus have ... get ready.

VANCOUVER SEMINARY.—The first term for this year of the Vancouver Seminary began on the 5th. Rev. Clark Smith, A. M., Principal; Miss ... Preceptress; Mr C. J. Smith, Assistant; Mrs. M. Jaggy, Teacher of German.

RIVER FREIGHTS.—The freights by river to this city from the valley are steadily increasing. The ... City ... come heavily laden every day and the ... will be completed to take her place on the line as soon as she is ready.

HELD FOR TRIAL.—The case of the United States vs. the schooner Isaac ..., occupied nearly the whole day yesterday before U. S. Commissioner Wilcox. The ship was held to answer at the U. S. District Court.

REBUILDING.—The P. T. Co.'s steamer ... is being thoroughly rebuilt at Oregon City. She will be ready to launch in a few days, but it will take thirty days at least to be fit for business.

COUNTY COURT.—The County Court for Multnomah county, Judge E. Hamilton, which stands adjourned until to-morrow, will meet at the hour of 10 o'clock P. M.

TOOK THE DEN.—Mr Joseph Buchtel yesterday took a photographic view of the Crocker Performing Lions in their den at the circus pavilion.

RAILWAY PROGRESS.—Cars on the Oregon and California Railroad are now within two miles of the State Capital.

POLITICAL NOTES

In an article on Illinois politics the Chicago Tribune says: The nominees of the Republican State Convention are unexceptionable in every respect, and are so well known that commendation is almost superfluous. Gen. Logan has represented the State at large in Congress two terms with increasing renown and unimpeached fidelity. We see no reason to doubt that he will be re-elected by fifty thousand majority.

The bonds of the State of Alabama, which were generally below par under Democratic rule before the war, when the Republic was as the Democrats love to boast at the height of its prosperity, are now under Republican rule sometimes above and never below par, as the papers of that State testify. Governor Orr, of South Carolina, makes the same boast for that State. The Republican party, he recently said, "whatever may have been its extravagance or improvidence has raised the market value of the bonds of the State from twenty six cents in January, 1868, to about ninety cents at the present time.

What an awful thing that Congressional Globe is. Here is Col. L. D. Campbell running in Ohio as a "Democrat" for Congress, and somebody has been looking up his old speeches in the House, in which he said more than once that the Democratic party had been upon both sides of every political question which has been agitated since the foundation of the Government—on "the tariff and the currency" especially. Moreover the resurrectionists have unearthed not only the Colonel's Know Nothing speeches, but also a fine assortment of anti Slavery orations of the fiercest and most benevolent description. They call him in Ohio "the ready made combination candidate," and seem to think, as he represents both sides so beautifully, that there is no necessity for running anybody else in his District.

OREGON

The amount of insurance on property destroyed by the late fire at Canyon City was $35,000. A correspondent writes that there is difficulty about the adjustment of many of the losses, which promises to present some very crooked questions if the suits are brought that are talked of.

From the Polk County Republican: On Saturday night last all the business portion of the village of Buena Vista, in this county, was destroyed by fire. About 12 o'clock on the night mentioned flames were discovered issuing from the rear of the building occupied on the ground floor by Weil as a store room and the second story by the Odd Fellows and Good Templars as a lodge room. The spread of the fire was so rapid that all efforts were directed to the saving of personal property. An entrance to the lodge room being cut off nothing was removed. Of the goods in Weil's store half were saved, and the whole of Pickett's stock in the adjoining building was removed, but the house burned, as also was a small dwelling house standing near by. The origin of the fire is a matter of speculation. The whole loss is estimated at $5,000.

A correspondent of the Mountaineer has been writing some letters on the subject of Wasco county finance. "Why," asks he, "will not our County Commissioners tell us what was the reason that while in July, 1869, the annual report made our debt only $6,000, in November following it was found by the grand jury to be almost $16,000? And that fact is known to at least one of the present County Court. We know that in 1867 one of the County Commissioners said publicly on the streets of The Dalles that the levy had been put down from twenty seven to sixteen mills so that at the election in the following spring it could be said on the canvass that our taxes were lessened. That is true, but we have now a terrific debt hanging over us to answer such financial efforts." The correspondent should not complain. These incidents in the management of the financial affairs of Wasco county are simply Democratic tactics.

An enthusiastic Frenchman in San Francisco has made a speech, as will be seen by our dispatches to-day, in which he declares in substance that he will witness the sacrifice of the whole fighting population of France before he will ask for peace. This is a little better than Artemus Ward, who was ready to sacrifice all his wife's relations.

The Republicans of Tennessee are to meet in State Convention at Nashville on the 22d inst. for the purpose of nominating a candidate for Governor and the consideration of such other questions as may be deemed necessary for the more thorough organization of the party.

THE TERRITORIES

Whitman Seminary, on the site of the old Whitman Mission near Walla Walla, is flourishing.

Sorghum syrup manufactured at Walla Walla has appeared in the market there. It is sold at one dollar per gallon.

A tremendous storm of wind and rain passed over Walla Walla a few nights ago. Rain fell in torrents and flooded the ground.

Mr Donaldson, the retiring Superintendent of the Idaho penitentiary, has been presented with a ... by ... the workmen under his employ.

The Owyhee Avalanche says there is quite a population of farmers, stock raisers and miners on Raft river, near the eastern boundary of Owyhee county.

Two men, one of them named Doherty and the other name unknown, were drowned a short time ago in Snake River near the new mines on that stream. In crossing the river their skiff, they were engulfed in whirlpools and lost.

A few days ago a man named Abe McDuffy shot and killed an Indian a few miles from Walla Walla. McDuffy says he killed the Indian in self defence. The only evidence was his own confession, and he was discharged.

A party from Owyhee has been to the head waters of the Malheur but were unable to find either quartz or placer diggings. The country on the head waters of the Malheur is represented as consisting of lava and burnt rock, on which no trace of gold can be found.

The following from the Elko ... is a specimen of the fun they have in that region: "Several Coyotes who feel slandered by "Old Hill," who classed them as brutes, have called upon us and desire the facts made known. They say that while they were in the Owyhee bathing with the buck Indians, "Old Hill" was on the bank eating clover with the squaws. As he has a paper through which to make charges and they none with which to defend themselves, we give them the benefit of our columns to set the matter right.

Napoleon's Prison House

Wilhelmshohe, ... William ... the summer residence of the Elector of Hesse Cassel, and with other residence to which Louis Napoleon has been assigned by the King of Prussia, is of peculiar interest to Americans. The place was built by Frederick II, Elector of Hesse, out of the money received by him of George III of England for the 17,000 Hessians hired by King George as Elector of Hanover. Out of these 17,000 5,000 were sent to Scotland to maintain English authority there, and 12,000 were sent to America to fight the colonists in our war for independence. The labor and expense of building Wilhelmshohe were enormous. It is said that it required the work of 2,000 men for forty-one years, and that the accounts were so large that they were burned to destroy all trace of the extravagance.

The fountain is the second highest in Europe—that of Chatsworth being the first. The medieval ruins, the aquatic stairway, the temple of the winds surmounted by a colossal statue of Hercules, made of copper over thirty feet high—the grounds and parterres about the palace, all show an enormous expenditure of money. The heights are about 2,000 feet above the level of the sea.

It is a singular coincidence that a vanquished French Emperor should be assigned this palace by a German King, remembering that the Elector Frederick II was driven out of Hesse and obliged to take refuge in Frankfort.

The particulars of Napoleon's arrival at Wilhelmshohe are thus given in a dispatch from Ostend, the 11th inst. The statement is taken from a Hessian Cassel paper:

The Emperor was accompanied by Generals Felix Douay and Lebrun as prisoners on parole and a brilliant staff of French officers on parole. The Prussian civil and military authorities of Hesse Cassel in full uniform received them at the station with a company of infantry as a guard of honor and a squadron of hussars to keep back the crowd. The Emperor, who was received with an Imperial salute, wore the uniform of a Lieutenant General, but no sword. His breast was covered with orders and he wore an undress scarlet kepi. He is quite corpulent and looks very gray.

The Prussian authorities surrounded the Emperor's journey to Wilhelmshohe with an exquisite delicacy of care and provision for the dignity and feeling of the prisoner. Advices from Cassel say nothing in the magnificent treatment of Napoleon would denote that he was regarded as a prisoner. He seems rather an honored guest of Prussia.

The Bird's Rights Meeting.

What birds pecked the cherries on Barnaby's tree
"I pecked [illegible]," said a bold Chickadee
"And so did I pick them," said a Robin Redbreast;
"And when [illegible], the cherries I pecked were his best."

Didn't he have some red flannel, one day,
Put up in the tree just to scare me away?
But I'm not afraid of red flannel, one bit,
"And I'm not afraid," said a little Tomtit.

"Didn't he aim with an old rusty gun
At me?" said the Sparrow. "Oh wasn't it fun
He meant to affright me; but I didn't care,
I just chirruped out to him, 'Shoot if you dare.'"

"Here me, my brave birds," said a clerical old Crow;
"This Barnaby I have good reason to know;
His insults for many a year I have borne
When peacefully trying to harvest my corn.

My treatment of him has been cordial and fair,
I've always been willing to give him a share;
I never have grudged him my corn or my beans,
But nothing can teach him what gratitude means.

My friends, I shall soon lay before you a plan
To put down this insolent creature called 'man;'
A creature that has neither feathers nor wings,
Yet sets himself up to be very great things.

I hereby proclaim, in the plainest of words,
That henceforth mankind must succumb to the birds.
I'm glad that this Barnaby's cherries you pecked,
The man has no rights that a bird should respect."

This speech was received with a round of applause,
"Your cheers," said the crow, "argue well for the cause;
When next we assemble, my plan you shall learn;
There's Barnaby coming—'tis time to adjourn."

Russia and the War.

WAITING FOR AUSTRIA—NO GUNS—FEELING TOWARDS THE COMBATANTS.

[Correspondence of the New York Tribune.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 12.

You have long ago received the telegram announcing the declaration of neutrality by Russia, and you have probably noticed how it is safe-guarded and qualified by the phrase "so long as the interests of Russia are not touched." What the interests of Russia may be in this particular case it is hard to tell. The popular explanation is that the Emperor intended to say that if Austria went into the war he would be compelled to take the opposite side. Austria, however, has shown no signs of quitting its neutral position, so Russia is quiet. She will probably remain so, because she is not in a fit state to go to war. The Small-Arms Commission have for the last three years done nothing but compare and test arms, and to this time have not fully decided what rifle to introduce into the service. At first it was thought sufficient to alter the old musket into breech-loaders, and the Carlen system was adopted in the gun factory at Tula. Then the Konka system was thought better and was ordered to be tried. Finally it was resolved to have new breech-loaders, and the first Berdan gun was adopted, and 30,000 were made at Colt's factory, Stanford, the order being finished last fall. Then Berdan invented a new gun, which they thought better yet, and 30,000 of that were ordered to be made at Birmingham, but are not yet delivered. No one has succeeded in getting any orders since. The infantry armament of Russia is now 460,000 altered muskets, Kona system, 120,000 Carlen system, all of which are practically worthless, and about 45,000 new rifles on the two Berdan systems. Cartridges have been made here for the last eight months, beside several million made in America, but there is by no means the quantity necessary for a war. Russian officers are many of them anxious to fight, and deplore the fact that they are not ready. The field artillery is excellent and in good store. The Russian soldiers are splendidly drilled, are quick to understand, very intelligent, and, if properly armed and well led, would display their usual courage and astonish the world. The Russian soldiers are like the British—they don't know when they are beaten.

The Emperor is personally very favorably disposed toward the King of Prussia, and a good number of the Court are German by birth, and therefore Prussian in feeling. The Tsesarewitch, or Hereditary Prince, is as Anti-German as a man can well be. He belongs to what is called the old Russian party, one of whose principles is dread and hatred of German influence, and beside that has a Danish wife who has confirmed him in that opinion, and everything German has long been banished from his Court. Among the people where there is not indifference there are good wishes for France. The calamities suffered from the French in 1812, and again in the Crimean war, and the plots of Napoleon in Poland, are not forgotten; but they are considered as nothing in comparison with the ingratitude of Prussia and Austria. This latter power is regarded by politicians as a more bitter enemy than Turkey. But the most prevalent feeling among all classes in Russia is hatred of Germans. Germans have so often and so long had things their own way in Russia—they are thought to have so completely exploite the country in their own interests, that they have become intensely disliked and suspected.

We cannot help taking the newspapers as an index in some measure, and we find them unanimous in favor of neutrality, yet all wishing for the success of France rather than of Germany. Even in discussing the causes of the war nearly all the newspapers found France in the right, and said that Prussia was to blame. The Golos at first rather sided with Prussia in the quarrel, and was accused by the other papers of a want of patriotism in putting the blame on France. The new explanation of the Duc de Gramont gave it an excuse, and it immediately turned about, and is as pro-French as could be desired. The Golos, however, spoke the truth when it said that a "war for Prussia would be the most unpopular war ever entered into by Russia." The whole conduct of Prussia for the last eighty years has been viewed, and it is shown that, while she is under many obligations to Russia, Russia is under none to her. Beside this, Prussia and the Germans are, as the Moscow Gazette and the Exchange Gazette take pains to show, hostile to all Sclavonian interests, and, therefore, of course to Russia. Austria is morbidly so, and should Austria intervene, these same journals would loudly demand that Russia take sides against her, even for Prussia. While thus proclaiming their devotion to Sclavonian interests, and their share in the Eastern question, they assert that the time has long gone by when Russia could take an interest in the affairs of the West, and that it makes no difference to Russia to what power the left bank of the Rhine may belong. Even in case of an occupation of Belgium, they think that Russia should do no more than protest, and that thus she will have performed her treaty obligations. The remarks of the Emperor on the presentation of M. de Tonchneren, the Belgian Charge de Affairs, and the comment of the St. Petersburg Journal, which you have already had by telegraph, seem to show that a more exact compliance with the treaties is intended by the Government. Russian journals have, however, deserved well of their country in giving all the influence they possess to urging neutrality on the Government. There is no question about its being advantageous for Russia. Government paper and all stock values, which had sunk greatly, have gone up again since the declaration of the Government. St. Petersburg and Riga are full of English steamers, so that we have two or three leaving every day, and an arrangement has just been made by which the Hungarian wheat, formerly shipped through Stettin, is now to be shipped through Riga. Russian commerce, instead of passing through Konigsberg, will go through Russian ports. Beside the war, there are two other items of interest. The cholera is raging at Taganrog, and 150 are dying a day. The Emperor has signed the new law about cities, giving free municipal governments on a very liberal system to all the large towns and cities in the Empire, exclusive of Poland and the Baltic provinces, for which other laws are in contemplation. It is the greatest reform since that of the Judiciary and Tribunal.

GREELEY'S BAD MANUSCRIPT.—A lecture committee in Pennsylvania sought to make an engagement with Horace Greeley, and received an answer as follows, as near as could be made out:

NEW YORK.

DEAR SIR:—I am vaccinated and yawning at Ismael: he serely is not fishing shad all the while at Sims, but I wrote a line to fetch her forth, deception is thus underrated viciously if Idaho fails. Carrot promises to wait. Perhaps spirits are useless entirely; my bow. Bores. HORACE GREELEY.

Further Remarkable Discoveries at Pompeii

From [illegible] we take the following:

During the eruptions of Vesuvius which destroyed the ancient city of Pompeii, those who delayed too long in making their escape fell victims, for the most part, to the pernicious effects of sulphuric and carbonic acid gases, and were rapidly covered by the showers of fine dust following the eruption, which gradually hardening, formed perfect moulds of the unhappy beings who so miserably perished, from which admirable casts are taken, showing their forms, features, expressions and attitudes when overtaken by death. At the beginning of the excavations little attention was paid to these natural moulds, only a few being partially cast and preserved, the most remarkable of which were of a husband, wife and child, the husband at the moment of death pressing tightly to his breast nineteen pieces of gold, and ninety-one of silver, which were fixed in his ribs; the wife had let fall a coarse linen cover, in which were found fourteen bracelets, gold rings, and jewels of less importance.

It was only however, in 1863 that M. Fiorelli had the happy idea of filling those natural moulds with a peculiar solution of plaster, by which process the victims are reproduced in their integrity.

The first group reproduced was composed of a man, a woman and two young girls who had remained within doors until too late, when they attempted to escape by the windows or terrace, they were suddenly asphyxiated, and covered by the dust which faithfully preserved the contour of their forms.

In 1868, a body thus reproduced was that of a man who had fallen face downward, whose countenance was the very image of despair and suffering; his clenched teeth and crisped hand eloquently expressing the agony he had endured.

Next in interest is the form of a woman who had fallen on her back, whose right hand leans upon the earth, her left raised, as if trying to ward off danger. To aid her flight she had raised her vestments. Her form was tall and elegant, her admirably arched foot, encased in strong sandals being a favorite subject of study to artists. On one of her fingers is a silver ring, while near her were found gold ear-rings, a silver mirror, and an amber statue representing Cupid. Her hair in front forms three rows of ringlets, and falls plaited over her back, in the manner of the Voltaire perruques.

A remarkable group of three persons has been admirably cast which is in the highest degree interesting. A man of tall stature and powerful build, with strongly marked features, prominent cheek-bones, heavy beard and moustache is the principal figure; he held in his hands the ear-rings of two young girls who followed him, and the key of his house, and looks the beau ideal of an old Roman legionary. Over his head he had thrown the corner of his mantle for protection against the noxious gases or the falling dust and cinders, the expression of his face and that of his two daughters being suggestive of suffocation.

There is something touching in the spectacle of the two sisters who followed their father, in the precise attitude as they fell supporting each other breathing the same poison and dying entwined in each others arms. Both of the figures are of beautiful forms and proportions.

There is something inexpressibly sad in the aspect of this groupe moulded by nature in the agony between life and death as they vainly attempted to escape from the doomed city.

With the means now at the disposal of M. Fiorelli he will be able to form a museum representing the race, beauty, costume and unhappy fate of the inhabitants of Pompeii which will henceforth be of inestimable value to the students of art and history.

NOTICE.

HOLDERS OF TICKETS to the GIFT CONCERT in aid of the Mercantile Library Association, are hereby notified, that the Concert is postponed until

Monday, October 31st, 1870

Unexpected interferences have operated to make this delay necessary to accomplish the result of freeing the Library from debt, without recourse to other privileges granted by act of the Legislature, passed February 19, 1870.

This is positively the only postponement which will be made. The Concert will take place on the day above named, commencing at nine o'clock, A. M., and to continue until all the gifts have been awarded.

The funds already in bank are considerably more than sufficient to insure the successful completion of the contract with the public.

The sale of tickets will positively close on Friday, the 28th day of October, 1870.

All tickets remaining unsold at that time will be withdrawn from sale and cancelled. They will be advertised by their numbers, on the 29th day of October, 1870, in one or more of the daily papers of this city. Any diminution thus made in the number of tickets to be drawn, will not affect the number or amount of gifts. They will be as heretofore advertised, to wit: 628 gifts amounting in all to $500,000 gold.

Ticket holders residing out of San Francisco will receive duly accredited lists of the awards of Gifts, which will also be published in the leading San Francisco daily papers, on the 1st November, 1870.

Delivery of gifts will commence November 2d, 1870, at the Office, No. 318 California Street, to all parties presenting tickets to which gifts have been awarded. All gifts awarded to non-residents will be held to their order and for their account.

SECURE A HOME!!

THE RIVERSIDE

HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION!

OF

EAST PORTLAND, OREGON,

IS NOW PREPARED TO RECEIVE SUBSCRIPTIONS to their stock.
Applications for ONE HUNDRED SHARES were made before the books were opened, and a large number of shares have been taken.
The following extracts from the Oregonian and Bulletin will convey a good idea of the plan and workings of the Association, the location of the land, etc., etc.

RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

This association of whose organization we gave an account a few days since, is now ready to dispose of shares. As it is with one exception, the Portland Homestead Association, the pioneer organization of that kind in this city, it may be well enough to state what are its purposes, and the manner in which it is proposed to conduct its operations. The purposes of these Homestead Associations are not at all speculative in the ordinary sense of the word. They are dependent for the profits of their investment upon the natural advance in the value of their lands, consequent upon the co-operation of many individuals—shareholders—and the advance on values of all surrounding lands by reason of the expansion of population and demand for room outside of, but still near, the city. The Riverside Homestead Association has a fraction over one hundred and twenty acres of land situated just south of Brooklyn on the east side of the river, the nearest boundary line being about one mile from the ferry landing at East Portland. The tract lies in one strip along the Wallamet river, half a mile in length, and another strip along the Oregon and California railroad, half a mile in length, the two strips being connected near the middle by two rows of blocks (with a street between them,) the whole forming a figure not unlike the letter H. It is divided into 74 blocks, 200 feet square, with streets running at right angles, and 80 fractional lots, along the river front. The shares number 600, worth $60 per share. It will be seen that a share thus represents nearly a lot with an undivided interest in the 80 fractional lots. The 80 fractional shares are to be sold off at the proper time for the benefit of the Association, shareholders coming in for the proceeds in proportion to the number of shares held. When all shares are taken and the Association shall determine to do it, the choice of lots and blocks will be put up at auction to the highest bidder, the proceeds of such sales, after deducting the original price of shares or lots, to be divided equally among the whole number of shares. Thus, if a person wants a particular lot or block, and is willing to pay $100 or $500 premium (more or less as the case may be) he pays it and takes the lot or block as his individual property, the premium being divided among the whole number of shareholders. It will be seen, therefore, that everything is co-operative, and all interests mutual. No man can make a dollar out of it without also making a dollar for every other equal shareholder. There is no chance for loss, unless the property, by some chance, should depreciate far below the first actual cost. Whether this is liable to happen in the case of this particular tract of land must be judged by each for himself; but considering the steady and unprecedented advance on real estate in this city and neighborhood, and at East Portland and vicinity, for the last year or two, it seems hardly possible for values to go back.

In the Riverside Association all proper precautions seem to have been taken to guard against monopolies of shares. No person is allowed to buy more than the number of shares representing three blocks, or twenty-four lots, and votes determining the operations of the Association are restricted in the same manner. The buyers of shares may pay down $60 per share, which will exempt them from all assessments, or they may pay $15 quarterly with an assessment of $3 per share, payable with the first installment, being liable in this latter case to another (and only one other) assessment of $3 per share. Upon the payment of the shares in full, with the assessments as above, the holder is entitled to his certificate and his proportion of all the profits accrued from all sources. No officer of the Association receives any pay for services except the Secretary, who gets $25 per month; so it will be seen that the expenses must be light.

That part of the tract lying along the river is a high plateau, nearly level, about 60 to 90 feet above the water. There is no part of the front row of blocks but commands a splendid view of Portland and the river for miles up and down stream. That part of the tract lying along the railroad is, every foot of it, of the richest loam soil and adapted to gardening purposes. A beautiful little stream of pure water runs through almost the entire length of this wing of the tract, affording the means of irrigation, and power sufficient to supply pure water to every part of the whole tract. There is not a waste lot or fractional lot in the entire tract. Under all these advantages, it would seem impossible that there should be any chance of loss to shareholders. Within a year each shareholder, if he chooses, may get a perfect title, to as many lots as his shares may represent, or he may continue his interest, undivided, with the Association while the organization may exist.—Oregonian.

THE RIVERSIDE HOMESTEAD ASSOCIATION.

We have been led to make these remarks from the fact that the subject of making homesteads on the outskirts of this city and East Portland, is being thoroughly discussed here among all classes, and one homestead—the "Riverside" just south of East Portland—has already been established. The site selected is a tract of land lying a little over a mile south of the ferry landing. It is shaped like the letter H, one arm of which, a half mile in length, borders on the river.

From this portion of the homestead, which is elevated but a trifle above the other prong of the H, but is still forty or fifty feet above the river, can be had an extensive view of Portland, East Portland, the shipping, and the Willamette river for several miles. The land is very fertile, and is partly covered with light fir timber. A tract of land just wide enough for two rows of blocks, with an avenue between them, connects the west prong of the H, which has already been described, with that of the east. This last tract of land is in a beautiful little valley, which is now under a high state of cultivation. Through its whole length runs a trout brook, the water of which is clear as crystal. With a hydraulic ram the Association proposes to have water conveyed through [illegible] portion of the homestead.—Daily Bulletin.
